

Introducing . . .

California Ministry Fund

Church Planting

The California Ministry Fund is used to support mission ministry in California, including the task of investigating and launching new ministries.

Because of the close connection between immigrant communities in California and their home countries, funding is also provided to support ministry expansion that begins in California and strategically reestablishes a mission connection back to the immigrants' birth countries—from there to here and back.

Missionary Ken Wallace oversees the distribution of the California Ministry Fund.
