

Introducing . . .

Paul and Jo Marsh

Campus Area Director - Rocky Mountain Region

FIELD

Paul is currently directing the ministry team at the University of Colorado, Boulder, which has 29,000 students who come from every state in the U.S. and from over eighty countries. The team is divided between ministry to American and International students.

In 1993 Paul became the Area Director supervising Campus Ambassador staff in the Rocky Mountain Region. He is also part of the national campus leadership team.

Paul says, "Students today are looking for a place to belong, somewhere it is safe to explore without judgment. We are providing this kind of place to students to taste and see the goodness of Jesus Christ."

FAITH

Paul, the oldest of seven children, was raised in a Roman Catholic home. Over the years he drifted from any belief in God.

Because of the faithful witness of Christian friends who were involved in Campus Ambassadors, Paul committed his life to Christ during his senior year at college.

FAMILY

While at Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Paul met Jo and they were married in 1980. They have two children: Amy and Christopher.