Building Networks of Culturally-Authentic Christ Communities.

CAMPUS

- Students in this time of uncertainty and isolation with COVID, that they will feel connected and calm
- Healing from any anxiety and depression caused by the stress of the pandemic with staff teams and faculty
- Engagement in healthy community and activities by students so that they would not turn to escapism or addiction to handle today's unprecedented circumstances
- Campus communities to grow in their ability to interact with and support students online
- Campus staff as they continue to create online experiences that foster thriving, personal relationships until it's safe to congregate again
- Continued unity and growth among staff teams allowing them to learn from, and support each other
- Ongoing learning and wisdom for team members on how to effectively minister and disciple students
- Student leadership in our campus communities and our insight as we raise up these leaders of tomorrow

U.S. AND CANADA

- Health and well-being of our faith communities as they continue to observe pandemic distancing
- New financial and donated resources for our teams as they experience new needs for food, shelter and basic health services for those they serve
- God's perspective for every ministry served through our Network and His insight as we help missionaries learn to communicate effectively and relationally through distancing
- Physical resources and skills that are now needed and necessary to allow our teams to continue their ministry safely and virtually
- Schools enabled through our network that are teaching vocational skills to Native American students from the Northern Cheyenne and Crow nations allowing them to build safe infrastructure in their communities
- Missionaries to be raised up in their underserved towns and cities to minister and build faith communities right where they live
- Team leaders in the Missions Door' Network to be physically and spiritually sustained in building strong relationships and support with the ministry leaders within their teams
- Dedicated and ongoing evangelism and discipleship through our diverse ministries and each distinct and rich culture

INTERNATIONAL

- Recent graduates of our Biblical Education by Extension [BEE] program as they apply what they've learned in their communities of faith
- Technical resources needed to equip remote church leadership with the technology they need to take online training courses
- Worship and training centers, materials and equipment for existing and new church communities
- The Holy Spirit's guidance in raising up new leaders right where they live to serve their neighbors and communities
- Energy for our pastors and teams as they work through the ongoing trauma and loss of life among families in their faith communities
- Sustained relief efforts and funding needed by missionaries and the communities they serve, for the devastation caused by the recent hurricanes
- Health care for the underserved people who are isolated and alone in the faith communities throughout the 16 countries served by Missions Door
